Special Notice to Business Men. As an advertising paper, the Democrat is uni-ersally regarded as the established medium of business communication between the buyer and seller; its largely increasing circulation, both as home and abroad, offers a favorable opportunity for a judicious dissemination of mercantile intel-ligence. It is also a favorite family journal, hence retail dealers, as well as more extensive trades people, mechanics and citizens will find its col tunns essential to prosperous business. It stands at the head of one of the great partie

of the country, reaching thousands that no other medium does reach. Now that the "Fall Cam-paiga" is drawing upon us, we hope they will not fail to learn the facilities our paper affords them, but at once avail themselves of its advantages, which surpassanything in its former history.

The Know-Nothing Convention at Baltimore. We thought a body of men who assumed the name Whig, would hardly indorse A. J. Donelson; but it seems the Baltimore gathering did not stor where discretion would have dictated. The country might have thought it credible that a Whig should profer Fillmore; but not that he should also i dorse Donelson. This gentleman was never . Whig; but the opposite. He would not now own the name, or indorse the creed. As leng as the Whig party lived, he made war upon it : and If he was not an efficient enemy of that old party It was not for lack of the will. He denounced the administration of Mr. Fillmore, and allowed him little credit for approving the compromise measures. He is now only a Know-Nothing, in ne sense a Whig; yet a body of Know-Nothings in fact, made up of men co-oporating with that party from first to last, if they have not joined it by as suming its secret obligations, call themselves Whigs, and not only indorse Fillmore, but they also proceeded to indorse the said Donelson. Would not a meeting of the couple thus indorsed by Whigs, and a talk over their antecedents, be infinitely amusing. Donelson would read to Fillmore the editorials of the Union, and Fillmore say, Amen-those portions proving Fillmore an Abolitionist, his Erie letter, &c. Imagine Donelson coming to the sentence, pronouncing Fillmore's administration one long, dull, tedious failure and blunder. Here the disciple of Scroggs would burn with indignation. There stop, Donelson; no more of that. Misery makes strange bed fellows; can it be you and I on the same ticket, and indorsed by a body under the name Whig, Fillmore and Danelson ! There used to be seven wonders in the world, but certainly there are now eight; and Fillmore and Donelson at the head of a Whig ticket, stands the most wonderful of all the wonders.

But these Whigs take Fillmore without adopting his principles; and the merit is, that he is no pledged to either section of the Union, which simply means, that on the great issue before the country, he takes no side; he is pledged to nothing. It is the first time in the history of the country, that a party has indersed a man without adopting his principles, and made it a merit that he is pledged to nothing. One would have though that a body of men pretending to represent themselves, if nobody else, would, by this time, have proposed something on the great territorial question before the country; that after all they had formed some opinion, and could give the weight of their influence to some policy; but not they They are as silent as the grave on the whole subject. The speeches of Clay, in 1850, are lost upon them. They pretend to a world of reverence of the sage of Ashland; but his opinions and efforts on the principle involved now, throw no light on the minds of these partisans. They pretend to great attachment to the Union; but they have a droll way of showing it. What do they propose now for the benefit of the Union? It is a political question that disturbs the Union. It has two distinct sides; and the party North has no compromises to make. This question has to be settled by a distinct proposition, that has to command a majority of votes in Congress, and an executive approval. But the wise men at Baltimore, composing the tail of Know Nothingism, have only

And now what if he were elected, and an Abolition majority in Congress and the Senate, what could be do? He could sit in the White House and peddle out the offices, and croak over a body in which he had no party, and whose reckless measures he could not control, if he desired to do it. What would be recommend to such a body and if he recommended anything conservative what attention would it receive? Does the coun try want men now without opinions, and without any object but office? Is it a man, not a policy the country is after? Some countries have kings by the grace of God, to manage politics for them ; but in this country, it has been the custom to demand of men what they would do on great questions, and to elect them to do it. The whole matter we are asked to reverse, and elect a man whose principles are not adopted, but still he is to is bound by an oath he has voluntarily taken, to foreigners; not only so, he is pledged to change the laws of naturalization. He is not now committed to a single principle of the Whig party. He openly proclaims that he is an American, not a Whig. He and his party are bound not to folcame time, pretend not to adopt those principles.

Do they expect to deceive the country by such a contemptible dedge? We believe that this body forty-five thousand votes in Maine, and thirty- is base en could not have done worse for Fillmore. They four thousand in Iowa; and we shall see it emare fully understood; and the imposing name they phasically condemned by a noble phalanx of free have assumed is only the lion's skin. That is not all; a party that will suppress votes by club law, is none too good to import them. Still, all know it is not possible to east votes of this sort in any rural district in this State. There are few procincts in the country in which the residents are not all known, if they have been there sixty days. All the talk about fraudulent voting in the country is moonshine. No man believes any such varn. It can't be done. A few fraudulent votes might be got in by accident; but no fraud out of a city. on any large scale, can be perpetrated. It is only in cities that such frauds can be practiced at all: and the requirement of a sixty day's residence would render it impossible to practice such a fraud here, with a quiet and peaceable election, with the polis unmolested, and the officers equally divided. When a party appoints judges of eleccion all on one side, and the polls are taken by ruffians, it is a distinct advertisement of "fraudulent votes wanted here."

But how is it that the imagination of the editor f the Journal is so diseased on the subject of raudulent voting, that he, upon no other ground than that of seeing men on the road with carpet age, writes and publishes a long article, with the lamning suspicion that some terrible fraud is inended? The other day he imagined that the uillions in the Treasury were poured into Kenucky to carry the State. Does he suppose tha all men are knaves, and that they meditate fraud tall times? His mind is diseased on this subsot of fraudulent voting; and the disease is bronic. At every election we have the same old ory. There are witches about; look out for rands! Now, we don't believe that extensive frauds are possible at any peaceable election, where the judges have time, and are disposed to e justice; as they usually are, when they are divided between parties. The people of this city understand, not from aspicious circumstances, but from actual facts. what was done by a party little more than ne year ago. They know that the legal vote of ouisville was suppressed, and they know how it was done. The vote of this city has not been polled since, owing to the terror and disgust inpired on that bloody day. A more open and unlushing desecration of the right of franchise was ever committed. When we mention this, we lon't deal in surmises, but in facts; and if we ealt in such stuff, we could publish rumors every lay of similar deeds meditated. The surmises nd rumors of the Journal are calculated to pro uce them, and then to justify them. It is a fact hat legal voters of this city shut up their houses and leave the city on election days, owing to conerted and executed violence at the polls, and breats of their repetition. The party that can appress legal votes, can import illegal ones. It utterly false that the Democratic party have pported any illegal votes, or even thought of it. hev believe that they have plenty of votes in Kentucky; and there ore have no temptation even want them from other places.

The opposition are the party apprehensive of efeat. They want illegal votes, if any one wants hem; and if any party has imported men with earpet bags, the organ may look at home. The Democratic party are clear of any fraud upon the lective franchise. They have not taken the olls, nor driven away legal voters, nor polled audulent votes. This is more than their oppo

Didn't their small quad in Congress compel their candidate for peaker to make such strides South as have selom been seen? The Know-Nething journals ave been publishing Buchanan's anti-slavery ecord, as they called it, and they have been lately rying to prove all the Democracy of the free States Abolitionists. All over the State their rators have been railing at Buchanan and the emocracy on the slavery question-appealing to ne prejudices and passions of the South. But nere comes the tail of Know Nothingism, not reponsible, we suppose, for the broken promises and violated pledges of the head, and croaks out a loud croak about appeals to the passions and prejudices of the South. Well may they give up outh. The South understand them pretty well; she has seen them before. What now will the Know-Nothing editors in the South and the Know-Nothing speakers do? They must not apeal any more to the passions and prejudices of he South. They must eschow the slavery ques large portion of them. Now, are the Democrats of those States appeal ng chiefly to the prejudices and passions of the South? A noble national party, that are like true patriots resisting the prejudices of their own section, and to be calumniated by a public body under the false name of Whig! This very resolution o theirs is the highest encouragement to a party North, in open war upon the South. Their opponents are stigmatized as appealing to prejudice and passion, by men from the South. It will be be placed in power to carry them out. Fillmore a matter for Greeley & Co. to jubilate over. They will hail it as a sign of a failure - the South proscribe all Roman Catholics from office, and all giving way, satisfied of her weakness, and begging terms of submission. Such will be the result of this time-serving, dough-faced assemblage. The South may well consider her case a bad one, when men of her own section meet to condemn her friends, and aid her enemies. The strength low Whig principles as such. Many of them have all their lives opposed Whig principles; if there are now any, they profess to be still opposed to them. But here is a body that wish to put men of Know-Nothing principles in power; and, at the such as the South denounce the crusade against her. his own party:

PHILADELPHIA. Sept.—9th, 1856.

HON. WM. BIGLER, ESQ.—Dear Sir: My attention has been called to a conversation with Mr. Wm Y. Roberts, formerly of Pennsylvania, and now of Kansar, which took place in the cars on the 7th of June last, on our return from the Cincinnati Convention, and on the route between Cincinnati and Pittsburg. Mr. Wm. Y. Roberts, Mr. John McCarty, Mr. John Roberts, and myself, were sested together, and in giving us a detailed history of the state of affairs in Kansas, he ur reserved by declared it as his conviction, that all the treab es in trait country were to be attributed to the violence and misconduct of a few ultraists and evil disposed persons, belonging to both parties.

He detaile 1st great length the doings of many of the extremists—and among the rest, most positively assisted "that a certain G. W. Brown, either of the Kansas' Herald of Freedom," an Abolition paper—was the very worst man in the Territory"—"that he, by his inflammatory writings and violent abuse," had done more to produce discord and retard the prosecets and interests: if the Territory, than all the pro-slavery men in it—and further, "that his departure from the Territory and the suppression of his paper, would not only have a tendency to tromate harmony and peace but would be hailed with joy by nearly all the real bona fide setters, whether pro-slavery of free state men."

He also further admitted that many of those claiming to belong to the Free State party h d emigrated to the Territory from the East, merely for the purpose of controlling its inhabition has and elections, without any serious intention to become bon fide-residents threof. At the same time, he took occasion to censure the Emigrant Aid Societies, for reading our lerge numbers of men at the cost of the soc eties, and without a dollar in their pock to on their arrival, to main ain them until they coud find empoyment. He associate the termination of the more and with a dollar in their pock to on their arrival, to main ain them until the men at the cost of the soc eties, and without a dollar in their pockets on their arrival, to main an them until they could find emp oyment. He argued that such was not the way to build up a prospectus Territ ry, or to seches the ends they ought to strive for. He also claimed that the quest on of land locations and town sites, with the speculations incident thereto, had much to do with the early troubles in the Ferntory; that it frequently led to stryy debates and troils be-tween meniar in the Northeim and southern States, in which as a matter of course, the triends of the differ-ent parties soon became warm part saws; and this had contributed as much to create an astry and excited feeling as the quesion of slavery. Another point he distinctly avowed, was "his belief that if they were left alone to themselvis, and astitation in the Kast and youth pure, say pool, they could and ann, a though he was determined by a proserver ann, a though he was du among them, nish and da; and was well known to be a free State man. In haste, I submit myself, your 1810. J. ROBERTS. We, the undersigned, having been present at the time the above on wersation took place, furly indorse an corroborate the statements of Mr. T. J. Roberts;

The editor of the Journal is very much exercised in mind because, as he alleges, some ruf ans assaulted the Know-Nothing procession in New York. How much of truth there is in the tatement, is difficult to judge at this distance rom the scene, where the accounts come to us through partisan papers, and especially through such an unscrupulous opponent of the Democratic party as James Watson Webb, to whom the Jour nal refers as authority.

If any portion of the Democratic, or any other arty, did disturb a peaceable procession of the Know-Nothings, we have only to say, that they were ruffians and blackguards, and it would afford is infinite pleasure to see them punished to the ull extent of the law.

But mark the difference. Here, at home, in this nob-ridden city of Louisville, such things are of onstant occurrence. The Democrats cannot hold a meeting out of doors without being annoyed and disturbed by scoundrels and ruffians of the Know-Nothing party. Even John C. Breckinridge, when called out by his friends at the Galt House was insulted by them.

The editor of the Journal more than insinuated hat ladies were pressed into the procession the ther night for the purpose of protecting it from nsult and aggression.

And for all these scoundrelly outrages has the ournal any word of condemnation? Never the first word of even mild reproof has he uttered; but on the contrary, has, in the most effectual way, encouraged their repetition, by publishing them as irst-rate jokes, and tauntingly declaring that th Democrats of Louisville were too cowardly to de fend themselves from such outrages. If the devi had sent an emissary here, specially commissioned to invoke our city in a strife of blood, he could

DEEP PLOWING OR SUBSOILING .- We bardly think that any farmer who requires an argument to prove the advantages of deep plowing will beat all benefitted by anything that can be written upon the subject. It seems to be a matter so self evident that "a word to the wise" would seem sufficient. We extract the following from an article in the Ohio Farmer:

"Any one who fully understands what we have said above will not regard this work of trifling consequence. He will see that deep tilth enhance mightily the power of every agency and element of productiveness. He will see, too, on reflection, the force of the following considerations:

 Deep plowing is the cheapest mode of manuring or of giving the greatest effect and duration to the manure he uses. It will cost but little more to plow deep than to plow snallow. But the results will be far different.

2. He will see, too, that it is best to begin now.

We are wearing out the surface of our soil rapidly. Before we ruin it entirely, we ought to begin a process which will save what we have not squandered, and recover, as far as we can, what is lost.

3. He will see that deep plowing is especially important on clay soils. Such soils, in addition to their other advantages, suffer greatly from the ex-tremes of wet, and of drouth. In wet weather they are too wet. In dry weather they are soon parched. Now, deep plowing or subsoiling will alone do much to cure this evil. When combined with thorough drainage, it is the testimony of thousands who have tried the thing, that desploying and good culture make just the difference n the driest season between entire failure and an abundant crop.

A member of that church, Mr. Rinehart, arose and demanded of Mr. Lamb to say what party he meant. The Reverend gentleman said he meant the Democratic party, whereupon Mr. Rinehart pronunced the charge a falsehood. Mr. Lamb then became highly excited, and declared that "Any man who will stand upon the Cincinnati platform, his face and heart are as black as hell and damnatian." Thereupon a number of Democrats in the congregation, who did not wish to hear any more of such reckless falsehoods and blasphemy, arose and left the house.

Important News from Kansas. Mr. Branscombe arrived from Kansas direct yes terday afternoon, on the cars, on his way to Bos ton, having in charge with him the wife of Rob inson. He brings intelligence that on the 10th Gov. Geary, in company with Judge Lecompte, immediately released Robinson, Brown, Delizler, Jenkins, and the remainder of the State prisoners confined there on a charge of constructive treason. They were required each of them to give bail in the sum of $5,000. This is supposed to be a mere form, as the prisoners were released in accordance with instructions given by the Presi lent to Gov. Geary.

There were at the same time confined under guard at Lecompton, fourteen Free State men saptured during the late forays by the Pro-slavecaptured during the late forays by the Pro-slavery forces. They were guarded by fifty Pro-slavery men, and had no connection with the State prisoners, who were guarded, before their release by the Federal troops. On the day after the release of the latter by Judge Lecompte, Lane appeared before Lecompton with 2,500 men, sent in a flag of truce by Mr. Branscembe, and demanded the instant and unconditional release of the fourteen prisoners held by the Pro slavery party. fourteen prisoners held by the Pro slavery party. He threatened, if his demand was not instantly complied with, that he would burn the town. The prisoners were released, and Luce marched back to Lawrence. There were 600 United States sol-diers at Lecompton at the time, but they did not of-ler to interfere. Givernor Geary was present in the town also. It is said that the Governor and the

THE GRASS-CATERPILLAR—THE CROPS.—We are informed that a worm has appeared among the crops in Fowltown district, and elsewhere in this county, that is completely destroying everything before it. They first appear on the grass, which in a short time is completely consumed. They next attack either corn, cotton, cane, potatoe vines, to ranything green within their reach; and serious was probable such a row could be got up in Kansas as would subserve the Republican case and aid the election of Fremont?" He said, "Yes, that is the intention, and I think we shall succeed; our plans are well laid and can scarcely fail; we are determined that the war shall last until November, at whatever cost; I shall be in Kansas in ten days, and I have instructions in my pocket for Col. Lane." We asked him some other questions which he answered with singular frankness, disclosing a conspiracy of the Black Republican leaders regarding Kansas, more heinous and villations, we verify believe, than any conspiracy every blade on the stalk. Kissing. "The pic-nic's all behind us, Rate,
"Twil take them long to find us, Kate,
There's a world of bliss in a harmless
And no one near to mind us, Kate."

Her sweet face took a ruddier hue, A hasty backward gl-nee she threw: She did not speak, but on her cheek The crimson tint still richer grew.

As fa'r as nymph in maiden guise, Just then some evil disposed young devil-My lips possessed by some surprise!

And stole a kiss before I could Prevent the sauce-box, if I would; "Why Barry Brake, how could you take Such libertles—here in this world?"

"It's quite too bad! besides, how queer That we're alone together here!
Come let us go-right well you know
Id rather have the others near."

A glance gleamed from her bonny eye, That tempered well the curt reply: With gentle haste about her waist My arm crept eagerly but shy. "Don't Barry dear," 'twist soft and clear, But how is thrill's my heart to hear-"Ah, Barry don't!" "No, Kate I won't." Alas! but yet I did, I fear.

I kissed her hands, I kissed herbrow, I kissed her dewy mouth, and now With "this for this," as kiss for kiss She paid with usury, I trow.

Then all her form grew love possessed, And closer to my heart sue present; With bushing face and free embrace She clasped me to her heaving preast.

"The pic-nic was behind us Kate, It took them long to find us Kate; We proved what bliss migric krow from kiss, And none was there to mind us Kate."

They are large bearers, and the fruit large and delicious. The following is an extract from a letter, Mr. Allen Wright, and Pettis. It will be one of those monster ives to the Country Gentleman:

"I pretend to no originality in or invention o these fruits. I obtained them from a garden in my neighborhood which had been planted at great expense by a gentleman of taste in such subjects etched and dear bought. The owner dying, the ground was devoted to other uses by his successor. The gardener who sold them to me called one the 'Red Prolific,' the other 'Red Antwerp;' but I can find either of them described in the pomological books nor nursery catalogues, and I am certain that veither of these are the true Rod Antwerp, which are not hardy. Mine grew much Antwerp, which are not maray. Hime grow much stronger, higher, and larger than the Red Antwerp did in this vicinity. Hearing so much ead about winter covering for the raspherry, I had them carefully bent down and covered one winter, and nearly mixed them have the precess. Since and nearly rained them by the process. Since then they have had no protection whatever. They withstand the cold of this latitude, 420 45 morth, as well as the wild raspberry of the woods or any-thing else-never missing a full crop; and my small plantation has given me several bushels every season. They have never been marketed till this summer, and having leased my farm garden grounds to a Scotch gardener, he sends them t town, where they are pronounced by the fruit dealers the best they have had, although the true Red Antwerp-requiring winter protection-are sent in for sale."

PIGEON HUNTING .- Benedict, a riave of Mr Ben. Webb, was brought up yesterday on complaint of a free colored woman on a charge of assault It seems that Benedict is engaged , largely in the business of growing pigeons, and that his birds are in the habit of straying cocasionally. He identified a flock of them on complainant's premises, which he invaded with the view of sprinkling salt upon their tails-the most approved mode of capture Complainant objected to the fowl transaction (play on the word fowl), and a physical encounter en sued, which, considering complainant's condition was no evidence of Benedict's gallantry. The pertinent lecture which His Honor delivered in th hearing of the litigants developed a new version of the common law, which it might be well t note. While the court concedes the right of self defense, it does not recognize the privilege of big buck pigger to resent a slight assault on the part of a delicate colored female. Benedict i recommended to crop the wings and tails of his pigeons, and was dismissed.

OBSTRUCTIONS .- Several ordinance warrant were returned yesterday morning, in Judge John ston's court, against citizens for obstructing th streets and sidewalks. Builders are in the habi of placing too liberal a construction upon the provision in the charter which gives them the right to occupy half the street with materials in the con struction of buildings. They can occupy so much of the street immediately in front of their own property; but they too often take the liberty to ecatter these materials in front of other people property, and, by permitting the rubbish to ob struct the gutters, prevent the free passage of water, &s., thus directly violating an important ordi mance. The rights of a majority depend upon careful observance of the needful rules of city government. A property holder should not be so intently engaged in the embellishment and improvement of his own property as to forget his ob ligations to the city and to his neighbors.

Building Improvements .- One of the mos superb blocks of buildings in the city, for busimess purposes, is nearly completed at the corner of Main and Sixth streets. The buildings in the course of early completion are three in number and extend from the corner of Sixth to the ex tensive anddlery warehouse of A. J. Morrison & Co., on Main. They will be occupied as follows The corner by Reed, Anderson & Co., in the hat trade, and the upper stories by Peters, Cragg & Co., as a piano wareroom; the second by Mesers Newland, Hutchison & Co., dealers in dry goods and the third by Curd & White, hardware dealers. The buildings are exceedingly well adapted to the heavy b usiness for which they are de-

THE TREATHS .- Mr. Collins had a very crowded house last night, and a more perfectly satisfied an dience we never saw, if constant applause is any swidence. His Sir Patrick O'Plenipo was matchles in ever; point. Power himself could not have ex celled him in his personation, while he would have fallen behind Collins as a vocalist. After seeing higher range of Irish character he has no equal To-night is his last appearance, when he will present Born to Good Luck and His Last Logs, with a repetition of the national song Hail to the Union received last night wish bursts of applause, and encored. All who wish to see him must go tonight, and should secure seats early this morning.

PETIT LARCENY .- Ann Davis was arrested yesterday, on complaint of a Mrs. Myers, for stealing a small quantity of checkered cotton. Mrs. Davis had been so closely pursued that she found it necessary to throw the goods in a heated stove, to prevent detection. She was held to bail to answer. Although Mrs. Davis is apparently a wery abandoned woman, she had a most interesting little daughter in court, which Judge Johnston could not separate from her-there being no pro-

CHANGE -There has been a measurable change in the temperature of the atmosphere within the last forty-eight-hours. From a tropical heat of 90 degrees, we have been translated into an autumnal coolness quite unusual for the season. A consequence of this change is a general prevalence of bad colds. When Mrs. Smith met her ancient friend Mrs. Mason in market yesterday morning she was heard to salute her thus: "Good bordig, Bissed Based."

Size of THE WEST .- Illinois would make forty such States as Rhode Island, and Minnesota sixty. Missouri is larger than all New England. Onio exceeds either Ireland, Scotland, or Portugal, and equals Belgium and Switzerland together. Missouri is more than balf as large as tiely, and larger than Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland. Rebecca Waters, more widely than favorably known, had John Hughes before the city court yesterday morning on a peace warrant. Rebecca failing to appear against the young man he was dismissed without an investigation; our reporter is consequently oblivious to the cause which led to the complaint and arrest. ILL-GOTTEN GAINS .- James Gaines, one of the was arraigned yesterday for drunkenness and inttention to his wearing apparel on public promenade. Failing to give bail, he was sent to the working, will recognize a streak of nature in the lines on "kissing," in another column. Now that we've married, we commend the effusion to the attention proceedings:

Dr. Gross tendered his resignation. He ex pressed the gratification he had experienced in attending these meetings, and stated that he re-viewed with satisfaction the hours of pleasure and improvement he had spent in the midst of this soeiety; he now took an affectionate leave of hi friends and associates here, but assured them that his mind would often revert to them, and though it was not probable that his lot and theirs would ver again be cast in the same community, he did of expect to sever the ties of friendship that ound him to the members of this association, but toped that the future would afford him an occa al opportunity of again meeting thein.

Upon motion, it was resolved that this club reeive with regret the resignation of Dr. Gross; hat they tender him their thanks for the zeal and bility with which he has served them as thei esiding officer, and for the warm personal at chment he has exhibited towards the members at they offer their kindest wishes for his welfare d prosperity in his new home, and assure his at upon any future visits to his old friends the ill be ready to offer that cordial welcome which upon motion, it was further resolved that, in deration of valuable services rendered the club by Dr. Gross, Dr. T. G. Richardson, and Dr. John Bartlett (now of Keckuk), and a just esti-mate of their professional attainments, they be reuested to allow their names to remain as he nembers of this club, and that they be solicited t nomunicate with this society as often as their invenience will permit,

Which resolutions were unanimously adopted. THE FEDERALISM OF 1811 AND THE "REPUB-MCANISM" OF 1856 IDENTICAL.—The opposition to be principle of popular sovereignty, as embodied in the Kansas Nebraska law, has its prototype or inten-ity and bitterness in the opposition of the Federalists and New England elergy to the riginal purchase of Louisiana. Hon. Josial y, of Messachusetts, was bitterly opposed t ferson and that purchase, and is now opposed to Kansas law and the Democracy of 1856. He s lately issued an address in favor of Frement d alleges that the question to be settled now is Tho shall rule this country-the free or the glay This same Josiah Quincy, in 1811 a war ederalist, now a Fremonter, was in Congress ben Louisiana applied to be admitted as a State

If this bill passes, it is my deliberate opinion nat it is virtually a dissolution of the Union; that will free the States from their moral obliga ions; and, as it will be the right of all, so will is the daty of some, to prepare for a separation-micably if they can, violently if they mush."

BLACK REPUBLICAN SENTIMENT .- The Raven a (Ohio) Reformer-a Black Republican print in a recent issue gives utterance to the follow-

"Our readers will remember that, in our last paper, we published a speech from Gerrit Smith in which he takes the ground that arms alone wil ree the slave. If this be so, what is our duty? s it to sit still and wait for some one in Kansas to egin the war? Let Gerrit Smith write a call for a revolutionary convention, put it in circulation, and go through the North lifting up his trumpet voice in calling the people to arms to put down slavery and he will find a host rallying to his standard. Such a movement will never come from such men as Lane or Robinson. It is not your merely estive and adventurous renegade Democrat who will lead in fighting for the slave. Abolitionists nust lead in this holy war, and it is high time that the aposite of this armed crusade for freedom lifted up his voice."

"MASON AND DIXON'S LINE."-ORIGIN OF THE ABARE.—In the 17th century, James II., of Eng-and, then the Duke of York, gave certain land to ord Baltimore and William Penn, and a difficulty on sprang up as to the proper owner of these fair carried into the courts, till, in 1750, when corgo the Third came to the throne, the Lord hancellor made a decision; but new difficulties prang up in drawing the boundary lines. The ommissioners finally employed Mesers. Mason and Dixon, who had just returned from the Cape of lood Hope, where they had been to observe the ransit of Yenus. They succeeded in establishing he line between Delaware and Maryland, which as ever since been called "Mason and Dixon's

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. SWITZERLAND.—An insurrection has taken place in the canton of Nucl Chatel. The Royalits or Prussian party took possession of the cha-teau, arrested the Counciller of State, and hoisted he Prussian flag. The Federal authorities sub sequently recaptured the chateau and town, and arrested Count Poutalest, the insurgent leader. In the conflict twelve Prussians were killed. ITALY .- Italian affairs continue unsettled. The aris correspondent of the London Times says that second note has been addressed by Naples to

Union. Most extensive preparations for a mass ratification meeting to-night in Monument Square are being made. A spacious platform, sufficient to accommodate the whole Convention, io erected in front of the Court House. Six lefty deric columas support it, with immense ornami parencies in front, surmounted with the spread eagle bearing the names of tee candidates; beneath, the federal coat-of-arms surmounted by the cornice hears the inscriptions: "The Constitu-tion," "Union States and States Union," and hundred gas lights. The speakers' stand is to be illuminated with an elegant chandaller, with a portrait of Fillmore in the rear. Altogether, this vill be the most magnificent display of the kind ever witnessed in Baltimore. The gathering will

Washington, Sept. 18. It has been ascertained that the Administration is officially advised that a project of a treaty between Great Britain and the United States relative to the Central American question has been agreed upon, a copy of which has been received, but its contents have not publicly transpired. W. C. TRUMPBOUR, Tressurer. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18. The New York Union Club visited Independ once Hall this morning, and were welcomed by Mayor Vaux, to which the President of the Club responded. They subsequently partook of an en-tertainment at the American Hotel. This afternoon, learning that Buchanan had arrived, they visited the Merchants' Hotel, accompanied by the Keystones. At first an excuse was made for the non-appearance of Buchanan on account of fa tigue from traveling; but finally he made his appearance, in compliance with vociferous calls, and briefly returned thanks for the honor and good feeling exhibited, and said he would like to ake them a speech; but, as he was now the candidate of the great Democratic party, political eliquette commanded his silence. The Club bid farewell with enthusiastic cheers, and were ac-companied to the boat by the Keystones.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19. The Fillmore mass meeting last night organized at 8 o'clock, Wm. Lehley, of Maryland, being chosen President, with a large number of Vice Presidents. The President welcomed the Whigs of the Union in the name of the Whigs of Balti-more and Maryland. Speeches were made from the main stand by Messrs. Wes. L. Goggin, l Granger, Edward Bates, of Mo., Graham, of P. C., D. Paul Brown, of Penn., John L. Pendleter and Rives, of Va., and others.
